Fund management

BT Super for Life – Lifestage Funds are invested using the ‘multi-manager’ investing concept. The funds are managed by BT’s investment management team and by a number of external managers with complementary capabilities.

Where BT appoints other investment managers, our team of investment specialists provide ongoing monitoring and review of the appointed investment manager. A multi-manager fund packages together high-quality investment management companies from Australia and around the world into a single fund.

Who is this fund for?

You have probably retired. You need a conservative asset mix, but still need to retain a level of growth.

Investment style

A Lifestage Fund has a mix of assets that adjust automatically as you get older. You only have one decision to make and BT Super for Life does the rest, assembling and managing the mix of assets according to your age, until and into retirement, automatically adjusting that mix over time. When you are younger you have more time to withstand ups and downs in the value of your investment, so your Lifestage Fund will be more growth oriented to target a higher return. Over time the fund will gradually shift to a more conservative asset mix generally by decreasing its allocation to growth assets (such as shares and property) and increasing its allocation to conservative assets (such as fixed interest and cash).

Intended outcome

Each Lifestage Fund is invested in a different mix of asset classes. We are endeavouring to outperform the market in each asset class (before fees and tax). The overall performance objective for each fund is to outperform other funds with a similar mix of asset classes.

Fund commentary

Market Summary

Over the twelve-month period to 30 June 2010 growth assets have posted solid gains. In the last 6 months however, there has been a reversal in this positive growth as investors became concerned about global uncertainties. A move towards more conservative investments such as bonds and cash at the expense of growth assets was a result of these concerns about sovereign debt in several European countries. The lack of momentum in global growth, the slow recovery in employment in developed economies, concerns over the pace of China's economic growth and its intended economic policies also contributed to weaker global equity markets.

Global Equities

Despite global equity markets falling over the most recent six months, they managed to post favourable returns for the twelve-month period to June 30. Mixed performance results have been evident for Asian markets over the twelve-month period, while across the European markets performances were mostly positive. Over the quarter, the international shares portfolio strongly outperformed its benchmark with the all of our underlying managers beating their respective benchmarks.

Australian Equities

The Australian equity market has returned 13.1% over the twelve-month period despite a recent reversal of investor risk appetite in favour of more defensive assets, such as bonds and cash. The best performing sectors over the financial year include Information Technology, Real Estate Investment Trusts, Financials and Consumer Staples. Sectors that lagged in performance over the period included; Energy, Telecommunications, Healthcare and Utilities and with these sectors, apart from Energy, being traditionally classed as defensive. Over the quarter, the Australian shares portfolio outperformed the benchmark. Investors favoured basic defensive stocks amid the market volatility. A number of our managers have found opportunities in quality businesses that are performing very well during this market uncertainty.
