2. How super works

About super

Super is a long-term investment designed to help you save for your retirement which is, in part, compulsory. The Australian Government provides tax concessions which generally make super one of the best long-term investment vehicles. While you are working you may be entitled to employer contributions to your super. Nearly every Australian has the right to choose which super fund their employer pays their super into. This is sometimes referred to as 'super choice' or 'choice of fund'.

Building your super

There are several types of contributions that can be made to super including personal, spouse and employer contributions, and government contributions. Generally, if you're aged 66 or under, all of these types of contributions can be accepted by a super fund. Once you turn 67, some restrictions apply. Regardless of age, your super fund can accept all mandated contributions from your employer.

It's important that we have your tax file number (TFN) otherwise we can only accept employer contributions and additional tax will apply. Limits, known as 'caps', also apply to contributions. Refer to the 'How super is taxed' section for more information.

Accessing your super

There are restrictions on when you can withdraw your super, or start using it for income. Generally, you cannot access your super until you have either turned 65, retired after reaching your preservation age (between 55 and 60 depending on your date of birth), or ceased employment after turning 60. In limited circumstances, you may be able to access your super before you retire.

Transition to retirement

Many Australians prefer to transition into retirement gradually. A Transition to Retirement account allows you to continue to grow your super even after you reach preservation age.

 You should read the important information about 'How super works' before making a decision. Go to the 'How super works' and 'Other information' sections of the Additional Information Booklet at bt.com.au/superforlife. The material relating to 'How super works' and 'Other information' may change between the time when you read this PDS and the day you acquire the product.

i You should read the important information about 'Benefits of investing with BT Super for Life' before making a decision. Go to the 'Benefits of investing with BT Super for Life' section of the Additional Information Booklet at bt.com.au/superforlife. The material relating to 'Benefits of investing with BT Super for Life' may change between the time when you read this PDS and the day you acquire the product.

4. Risks of super

All investments carry risk, and different types of investments carry different levels of risk. Your super may be invested into a range of asset classes including cash, fixed interest, property and shares. The likely investment return and the risk of losing some or all of your money is different for each asset class and investment strategy, depending on the underlying asset mix.

Generally, the higher the potential return of an investment over the longer term, the greater the level of risk of loss in the shorter term.

What's important is to understand that:

- investments will fluctuate in value
- returns are not guaranteed and you may lose some or all of your money
- investment returns can be volatile and may vary
- future returns may differ from past returns and past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance
- laws affecting your super may change, and
- the amount of your future super savings (including contributions and returns) may not be enough to provide adequately for your retirement.

The level of risk and the right balance of risk and potential returns for you will depend on a range of factors including your age, investment timeframe, where other parts of your wealth are invested, and how comfortable you are with the risk and possibility of losing some of your super in certain years.

What are the insurance risks involved?

When considering whether the insurance cover in BT Super for Life meets your needs, it's important to understand that BT Super for Life Standard insurance cover has a pre-existing condition exclusion for a specified period. This means that you will not be covered for any pre-existing conditions that existed at the time your Standard cover commenced or in the two years prior to cover commencing, and therefore your ability to receive a benefit could be impacted where your insurance claim is directly or indirectly related to a pre-existing condition. Other exclusions may also apply. Further information about insurance and the exclusions which may apply are included in the Additional Information Booklet.

Standard Risk Measure

The Standard Risk Measure (SRM) is a way of describing the level of risk of different investment options. It provides a guide on the expected number of negative annual returns over any 20 year period. It doesn't consider all forms of investment risk and does not take administration fees and taxes into account.

For the SRM in relation to the BT Lifestage investment option, see the 'How we invest your money' section of this PDS. For more information about SRMs generally and the SRMs for the remaining investment options, see the 'Understanding your investment options' and 'Investment option profiles' sections of the Additional Information Booklet.

i You should read the important information about 'Risks of super' before making a decision. Go to the 'Risks of super' section of the Additional Information Booklet at bt.com.au/superforlife. The material relating to 'Risks of super' may change between the time when you read this PDS and the day you acquire the product.

5. How we invest your money

Choosing BT Super for Life means you're in charge. Your super will be invested automatically in the BT Lifestage investment option when your account is set up. You can:

1. leave it to us and we'll invest your super in the BT Lifestage investment option, or
2. take over at any time and personalise your super by choosing your own investment mix.

WARNING: When deciding how you want your super to be invested, you should consider the likely investment return, the level of risk, and your investment timeframe.

BT Lifestage investment option

Whether you've just started your first job, you're established in your career or already left the workforce, your BT Lifestage investment option is a portfolio designed to allocate and adjust your mix of assets as you age.

When you're younger, your BT Lifestage investment option will have a higher allocation towards growth assets such as shares and property, because you'll have more time to withstand the rise and falls of the market. As you grow older, the mix of assets will adjust to increase your investment in defensive (less risky) assets such as cash or fixed interest.

Lifestage investing is the investment strategy for the BT's MySuper Product, which is where your super will be invested when you join. The MySuper product is specially designed to suit members at every stage of their life, with the same administration fees, investment fees and default insurance cover.

Investment strategy

Your BT Lifestage investment option invests in a diversified mix of growth and defensive assets that changes over time to suit the changing risk profile of members.

There's a different Lifestage investment strategy for each decade, designed to suit people born in that decade. For example, if you were born in 1974, you would be invested in the 1970s BT Lifestage investment option.

Investment objective

Your BT Lifestage investment option's objective is to provide an investment return above inflation. These objectives have been set using the Consumer Price Index (CPI) which is a generally accepted measure of inflation. The following objectives are current as at the date of this PDS. The investment objectives for Super and Transition to Retirement accounts are:

1940s	1950s	1960s	1970s	1980s	1990s	2000s
CPI + 1.0%	CPI + 1.3%	CPI + 2.2%	CPI + 3.3%	CPI + 3.3%	CPI + 3.3%	CPI + 3.3%

The investment objectives for Retirement accounts are: 1940s - CPI + 1.5%, 1950s - CPI + 1.8% and 1960s - CPI + 2.7%.

The objectives are on a per annum basis measured over a 10 year period net of fees and taxes.

6. Fees and costs

DID YOU KNOW?¹

Small differences in both investment performance and fees and costs can have a substantial impact on your long term returns.

For example, total annual fees and costs of 2% of your account balance rather than 1% could reduce your final return by up to 20% over a 30 year period (for example, reduce it from $100,000 to $80,000).

You should consider whether features such as superior investment performance or the provision of better member services justify higher fees and costs. You or your employer, as applicable, may be able to negotiate to pay lower fees. Ask the fund or your financial adviser.

TO FIND OUT MORE

If you would like to find out more, or see the impact of the fees based on your own circumstances, the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) website (www.moneysmart.gov.au) has a superannuation calculator to help you check out different fee options.

¹ This warning is prescribed by law. Fees in BT Super for Life are not negotiable

ASIC's super calculator referred to above can be used to calculate the effect of fees and costs on account balances. This document shows fees and other costs that you may be charged. These fees and other costs may be deducted from your money, the returns on your investment or the assets of the superannuation entity as a whole.

Other fees, such as activity fees, advice fees for personal advice and insurance fees, may also be charged, but these will depend on the nature of the activity, advice or your insurance. Taxes, insurance premiums and other costs relating to insurance are set out in another part of this document. Entry fees and exit fees cannot be charged.

You should read all the information about fees and other costs because it is important to understand their impact on your investment. You can also use the information set out in the table below to compare the fees and costs with those for other super products.

7. How super is taxed

Superannuation can be subject to tax on contributions, earnings and withdrawals (benefit payments).

Contributions

Concessional contributions including Super Guarantee from your employer, your salary sacrifice contributions, personal contributions you claim as a tax deduction are generally taxed at a rate of 15% (provided you have supplied your TFN). Non-concessional contributions including spouse and personal contributions for which you don't claim a tax deduction are not subject to tax in the super fund.

Contributions tax is generally deducted quarterly in arrears, or when we receive a personal tax deduction notice. If you're classified as a high income earner, you may need to pay an additional 15% tax (known as a Division 293 tax) on some or all of your contributions. If this applies to you the Australian Taxation Office will notify you after the end of financial year. For more information refer to www.ato.gov.au.

There are limits, called 'caps', the amount of concessional and non-concessional contributions you can contribute to your super each financial year. The contributions caps change from time to time, and up to date information is available at www.ato.gov.au. It is your responsibility to track your contributions against the caps and make sure you don't exceed them.

WARNING: There may be taxation consequences (such as additional tax) if your super contributions exceed the contribution caps.

Earnings

In a BT Super for Life – Super and Transition to Retirement (TTR) account, investment earnings and capital gains are taxed at a maximum rate of 15%. Some capital gains may be taxed at the concessional rate of 10%. Tax on earnings and capital gains is reflected in the applicable investment option's unit price (or interest rate for Cash) and is not deducted directly from your account. In a Retirement account, investment earnings are tax-free.

Withdrawals

If you're 60 or over, withdrawals are generally tax free. If you're under 60, you may be taxed on lump sum withdrawals as follows:

- Tax free component: Nil
- Taxable component:
- If you are under your preservation age, 20% plus the Medicare levy.
 - If you have reached your preservation age, tax free up to the low rate cap¹, then generally 15% plus Medicare levy.

¹ The low rate cap may change from time to time. To find out the current cap visit ato.gov.au.

The information and tax rates in this section may change. Different tax rates and rules for withdrawing your super may apply if you are, or were, a holder of a temporary visa. As tax is complex, we recommend that you seek professional advice as to how the rules might impact you or your beneficiaries.

Tax file number (TFN)

WARNING: You should provide us with your TFN when you join BT Super for Life. If you don't provide your TFN we'll only be able to accept employer contributions into your BT Super account, and you may be liable to pay additional tax on your super contributions.

i You should read the important information about 'How super is taxed' before making a decision. Go to the 'How super is taxed' section in the Additional Information Booklet at bt.com.au/superforlife. 8. Insurance in your super

When you join BT Super for Life, insurance cover will start once you reach an account balance of $6,000 provided you are 25 or older - or you can tell us if you want cover to start earlier. Cover is available anywhere in the world 24 hours, 7 days a week.

Insurance premiums are deducted directly from your superannuation account balance each month so you don't have to budget for this cover from your take-home pay. You'll need to ensure that your balance meets the cost of insurance premiums, or your insurance will be cancelled. Insurance cover is not available for TTR or Retirement accounts.

What types of insurance are available?

- Death Benefit pays a lump sum if you die or suffer a Terminal Illness.
- Total and Permanent Disability (TPD) Benefit pays a lump sum to you if you become Totally and Permanently Disabled.
- Salary Continuance Insurance (SCI) (also known as Income Protection) provides a monthly benefit for a period if you become Totally Disabled or Partially Disabled.

i You should read the important information about 'Insurance in your super' before making a decision and for key insurance definitions. Go to the Additional Information Booklet available at bt.com.au/superforlife. The material relating to 'Insurance in your super' may change between the time when you read this Statement and the day when you acquire the product.

Standard cover

When you open a BT Super for Life - Super account you may be able to receive 1 unit of Standard cover for Death and TPD (some eligibility criteria and age restrictions apply) without the need for a medical assessment. You can request double or triple this amount without the need for a medical assessment. Requests to increase your Standard cover should be made online within 90 days of your insurance starting.

The level of cover you receive adjusts throughout your life – providing you with more cover when you're likely to need it most and less cover when you don't.

i Important note: Unless you cancel the Standard cover, your first premium will be deducted from your account on the first business day of the month following the date your insurance starts. You may also choose to reduce your Standard cover to Death cover only once your account is opened.

Important things to be aware of if you have Standard cover

A Death (including Terminal Illness) or TPD Benefit won't be paid to you where your claim is directly, or indirectly, related to a pre-existing condition that existed at the time your Standard cover commenced, or in the two years prior to that cover commencing. A pre-existing condition means any Injury or Sickness that you were aware of, or a reasonable person in your position should have been aware of. Other exclusions may also apply. Please refer to the Additional Information Booklet for more information about 'What exclusions apply to Standard Cover'.

Your premium and sum insured

The monthly premiums you'll pay for your Standard Death and TPD cover depend on the amount of cover, your age and whether you're male or female. No additional loadings are applied based on your occupation or lifestyle. The following table shows the sum insured that applies for your age (in years) for a single unit of Standard cover for Death and TPD.

Standard cover - Death & TPD
Age (years)	Sum insured for 1 unit of cover ($)	Age (years)	Sum Insured for 1 unit of cover ($)	Age (years)	Sum Insured for 1 unit of cover ($)

Go to the Additional Information Booklet at bt.com.au/superforlife for the premium rates that will apply to you. The Insurer reviews your insurance on 1 July each year, and if applicable, will change your sum insured and premium based on your age. If the insurance premiums in this PDS are changed, you will receive at least 30 days notice.
